Menopause Awareness Month

Menopause can affect day-to-day wellbeing in many ways, including hot flushes and night sweats, as well as changes in mood, joints, energy levels and digestion. Over time, declining oestrogen levels also make maintaining bone and muscle density and heart health increasingly important.

Orla Walsh,
Registered Dietitian and Lidl Ambassador

Orla Walsh
recommends eating well to support your body through these changes and including these foods in your diet:

Walnuts: A daily intake of 30g helps improve the elasticity of blood vessels, which supports heart health.

Chicken, chickpeas and bananas: High in vitamin B6, which helps regulate hormones that support overall physical and mental wellbeing.

Mozzarella, eggs and salmon: Provide vitamin B12, which contributes to the reduction of tiredness and fatigue.

Milk, yoghurt, cheese and calcium-set tofu: Provide calcium and protein, which help maintain normal bones.

Oranges, peppers and broccoli: Contain vitamin C, supporting collagen production needed for the normal function of cartilage, which acts as a cushion between the bones in joints.

Turkey, lentils and whey: Provide protein, which helps maintain and build muscle.

Kiwis and prunes: Eating 2-3 kiwis each day increases stool frequency, while 100g of prunes contributes to normal gut function.
